- Title: Recipe Finder
- Automated Tests: Using Sahi Pro

- User Acceptance Tests: Three important features of our project are adding ingredients, creating accounts, and finding relevant recipes. Each of these should be relatively easy to test, as there are large obvious buttons on our website to do all of these things. Testing will be easy as clicking them and attempting to break it with long strings or weird characters (like emoji). This will test how well our databases work and handle edge cases, as well as making sure everything on the website displays and is working properly. Because finding relevant recipes should be automatic by our website, this will be tested at the same time as entering recipes will be tested.
